

V-Tech Solutions Empowers Local Students to Achieve Technology Dreams

June 2007 Silver Spring, MD - V-Tech Solutions, Inc. is committed to partnerships between educational institutions and communities to promote learning, academic performance, and workforce preparation for the youth of Washington, DC. Victor Holt, President & CEO of V-Tech Solutions is an alumnus of McKinley Technology High School and sits on the Board of the McKinley Technology High School Foundation. Mr. Holt sought to create a memorial scholarship in honor of his sister, Denetrious Holt. V-Tech Solutions, Inc. presented $5,000.00 to the McKinley Technology High School Foundation (the Foundation) in 2007 in order to empower a local student with financial resources to alleviate some of the burden associated with upcoming college tuition and fees.

In addition, students will also gain professional experience through a 6-week internship at V-Tech's corporate headquarters. The purpose of the internship is to expose students to the day-to-day workings of a technology company. Students will be granted the opportunity to participate in real projects that involve V-Tech's public and private sector clients. The objective is to provide genuine experience that the students can use to build their professional resumes and portfolios.

Derrick Davis is a student who has graduated from McKinley High School, and is attending the Pittsburgh Institute of Arts. He is studying computer graphics design and 3D modeling.
